British Probing 2 Plane Disasters

37 Lives Lost In Canada Collision; 21 Others Aboard Missing Jetliner

By The Associated Press
British Commonwealth officials on opposite sides of the world today were investigating two aerial disasters which may have claimed a total of 58 lives.

In Canada, experts pushed a probe into that nation's worst commercial airplane accident, the collision of an airliner and a military trainer.

At the same time, an armada of planes and ships converged on an oil slick south of the Isle of Capri in the Mediterranean where a Comet jetliner was feared to have fallen.

The Canadian crash took 37 lives. A total of 21 was aboard the Comet. The Canada death list included 31 passengers and a crew of four in the westbound airliner; a British RAF pilot in training; and a cleaning woman who died in the wreckage of a house struck by the airliner's flaming debris.

Wreckage of a house struck by the airliner's flaming debris.

THE COLLISION occurred in mid-morning as the airliner, delayed 7½ hours by weather on its flight from Montreal to Vancouver, was flying west above the city. Witnesses said the single-engine Harvard trainer crashed into the larger plane from the southwest, shearing off a wing from the airliner. The trainer fell directly to the ground while the North Star went into a spin at a sharp angle. Bodies hurtled from the airliner "like raindrops," they said.

Airline officials in London listed three Americans among the passengers on the missing jetliner.

For the second time in three months all Comets, great hope of Britain's air transport industry, were grounded pending further information on the missing plane. The plane carried a crew of seven South Africans and 14 passengers—three Americans, two South Africans, seven Britons, an Egyptian and a Swiss. The Americans were identified as O. L. Anderson, American Fork, Utah, bound from London to Cairo. Floyd R. Harbinson of Pittsburgh, a Westinghouse engineer on his way to Cairo to supervise repairs on a small power station, and Ray L. Wilkinson, a manufacturer of Marblehead and Salem, Mass., en route to Livingstone, Africa, on a combination business-pleasure trip.

HALF AN HOUR out of Rome, the plane messaged: "We are making altitude." That was the last heard from it.

The sleek, 500-mile-an-hour Comets—the world's first civilian jet airliners, on which Britain has staked the prestige of her air transport industry—had been put back into service only 16 days ago. They had been grounded following a jetliner crash off the Isle of Elba Jan. 10 in which 35 persons died.

The January crash was the third fatal Comet mishap in 13 months. During the first grounding period, 50 safety changes were made.

The first Comet crash was on takeoff from Karachi, Pakistan, March 3, 1953. All 11 crew members and technicians aboard were killed. A second crashed in a thunderstorm near Calcutta, India, May 2, 1953, killing 37 passengers and six crewmen.

'Blue Rain' Has Detroit Folk Talking

DETROIT — Astonished Detroiters were talking today about the "blue rain" which spattered hundreds of homes on the north-west side yesterday.

Davenport, Iowa, had the same thing. Houses were flecked with tiny blue spots. Some of it was a push-bush.

Science came up with explanations although first excitement ran high.

One unofficial theory, for instance, was that it might have come from the hydrogen bomb tests in the Pacific. There was no expert support for that one.

Civil defense launched an investigation and determined there was "no cause for alarm."

Elm tree buds—that's what it was in Detroit apparently.

Dr. Joseph G. Molner, city health commissioner, advanced the explanation. He said the buds had fallen to the ground, rested on the damp earth, and had then been blown forcefully against the houses by Wednesday's big winds.

Chemicals in the house paint probably contributed to the ultimate coloring, he said.

Scientists in Davenport reported microscopic examination showed the flecks were caused by a type of vegetable material, probably pollen spores.

Adlai In Hospital

CHICAGO — Adlai E. Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, entered Passavant Hospital last night for further treatment of a kidney ailment.

Wiretapping Bill Is Sent To Senators

House Passes Measure But Far From Form Asked By Brownell

WASHINGTON — A House-passed bill to legalize the use of wiretapped evidence against spies and saboteurs faced an uncertain fate in the Senate today, although there were promises of early consideration.

What emerged yesterday after nearly two full days of heated House debate was far short of the legislation asked by Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr.

Instead of giving him the sole powers he requested over wiretapping in national security cases, the House voted to make it subject to advance court approval.

The Democratic-sponsored provision for court approval was substituted for the administration bill by a 221-166 rollcall vote in which 32 Republicans and one independent joined 188 Democrats to make up the majority. All 166 votes against it came from the GOP.

In essence, the bill would alter a 20-year-old rule which makes wiretapped information inadmissible as evidence in the federal courts.

IT WOULD legalize evidence obtained from wiretaps for the prosecution of spies, saboteurs, persons accused of espionage, sedition or seditious conspiracy, or charged with violation of the internal security or atomic energy acts. Subject to an advance court order, FBI or military agents would be empowered to tap wires upon the written approval of the attorney general.

Educator Says Pre-Medics 'Stereotyped'

CHICAGO — Most college boys aiming to become doctors take such "stereotyped" non-cultural courses that they "even begin to look and speak alike," a nationally-known educator says.

Chancellor Lawrence A. Kimpton of the University of Chicago, saying that would-be physicians need knowledge of "humanizing" subjects if they want to prepare for the position of leadership expected of them, told the annual meeting of the American College of Physicians last night.

"The doctor as a leader should know the true and the good, and it could do no harm if he appreciated the beautiful."

"But I for one am shocked by the typical premedical curriculum. Youngsters presenting themselves for candidacy to our medical schools show a monotonous and unvarying stereotype of training involving prescribed units of scientific subjects."

He said that because of the "difficulty" of entrance into medical schools, the youngster preparing for such a school "plays it safe and does not monkey around with cultural courses that the medical school admission committees do not pay any attention to anyway."

But he added: "The typical premedical curriculum runs a serious risk of educating out of the student the creativity, the critical appreciation, the ability to think, which are so necessary a part of leadership."

Collie Dog Gets New Gold Teeth

CLEVELAND — A collie dog named Blue sunk a pair of gold teeth into his food today and prepared to go back to work as a guard dog in a show.

He lost his own teeth trying to bite his way out of a crate while being shipped here from Hollywood to take part in an act—showing how a dog protects his master.

A dentist put the gold crowns on the broken fangs nubs in a five-hour operation Wednesday and the dog's mistress, Mrs. Jane Tegner, quoted the dentist as saying the teeth were now as strong as ever.

Red-Led Rebels Open Up Another Big Artillery Barrage On French Fort

HANOI — The Communist-led Vietminh unleashed a "violent" artillery bombardment on Dien Bien Phu today in what might be a prelude to a new infantry assault on the besieged French fortress in northwest Indochina.

A French communique said the defenders answered back with tremendous barrages as the rebels rained down thousands of shells from their 105 and 75mm. artillery and heavy mortars in the hills encircling the trench-held plain.

Such artillery steps have heralded the Vietminh's two previous attempts to overrun the fortress, a two-day wave of assaults beginning March 13 and six days of repeated attacks on various corners of the plain's defenses which ended last Monday.

Some French army sources, however, still believed the Vietminh renewal would not come for another "four or five days."

Meanwhile, in Washington, Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said Congress ought to "reappraise the whole foreign air picture in the light of the current world situation," particularly the Indochina crisis.

Bridges, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, made the statement after a breakfast conference with President Eisenhower. He said, however, he did not discuss foreign aid or the situation in Indochina with Eisenhower in any detail.

Earlier Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) had said any effort by Congress to use foreign aid to pressure Britain and France into a united front against communism in southeast Asia would boomerang.

"It would play right into the Kremlin's hands," he said. "It would be just like cutting off your nose to spite your face."

Bridges said Secretary of State Dulles had canceled a scheduled appearance before the Senate Appropriations Committee this afternoon to fly to London and Paris.

He is to appeal to the British and French for support of his program of "united action" against any new Communist aggression in Asia.

Humphrey was commenting on a suggestion by Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California that Congress might delay a decision on aid to some North Atlantic Treaty countries until after the April 26 five-power Geneva conference, if those countries kept putting off a response to U. S. calls for unity against the Reds in Indochina and Southeast Asia. British and French diplomats reportedly are disinclined to fall in with the U. S. plan before they see what comes out of the Geneva meeting with representatives of Soviet Russia and Red China.

"The real isolationists," Knowland said, "are not found in America but in some of the nations associated with us in Europe."

He said these nations fail to understand the Communist aim is to "control Asia before striking at Europe."

Events in the next few months in Indochina, he continued, may seal "the fate of the free men of Europe and the Americas."

He said he does not want a duplication of the Korean War in which, he contended, the United States received troop support only from 17 of the 60 United Nations.

Benson Rapped For Breaching Congress Faith

Appropriation Higher Than Department Asked For Next Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON — The House Appropriations Committee, accusing Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson of "a breach of faith" with Congress, today voted the Agriculture Department more funds than it had requested for next year.

The committee sent to the House floor for debate Monday a bill carrying $698,741,812 in cash and $320,500,000 in loan authority for the department for the fiscal year starting July 1.

This is the exact amount of cash the department requested through the budget Bureau, but the contract authority is $45 million more than had been sought. The new cash is about $36 million less than the department received this year, while the loan authorization is $64 million less.

The committee authorized the entire $250 million requested by the department for the 1955 crop year. Money to finance this authorization, which includes soil conservation subsidies, will be provided in next year's appropriation bill.

WHILE ALLOWING the department the amount of new cash it requested, the committee cut some of the projects in the overall farm program and recommended that the money thus saved go to the school lunch program.

It disagreed with the department's plan to cut the budgets of "action programs" and to shift emphasis to research and extension activities. The department had proposed cuts for the forest service, the soil conservation service, the crop insurance program, the Rural Electrification Administration, the Farmers Home Administration and the school lunch program, and for disease and pest control work.

The committee approved about (Continued on Page Two)

4th Graders Awaiting 1962 Tree Harvest

COLUMBUS — Fourth-graders at nearby Worthington dug into frozen ground recently to plant 1,000 young Christmas trees.

For Christmas, 1962, the students will harvest their trees, then blow an estimated $3,000 profit on a first-class trip—that is if everything goes according to plan.

The plan, as outlined by Robert Paton, forester and a father of two children, is a venture in education coupled with community improvement. It provides for development of an 80-acre tract into recreation facilities available for community as well as school use. Set aside for Worthington schools 151 years ago by the "city fathers," the tract is bounded on one side by the Olentangy River and by Ohio 161 on another.

Each fourth grader has his own money invested in the "corporation"—25 cents per person. And he will be up to the students to protect their investment. They will take care of the trees, at the same time learning conservation, forestry, nature study and bookkeeping.

But this batch of trees is only a beginning. Each successive group of fourth-graders is to put in 1,000 trees, then await harvest.

Following a plan worked out by school and community officials, the entire 80 acres will be developed, all on an educational-recreational basis. An outdoor amphitheater, picnic grounds, football field and camping area are planned.

Nagging Wife Yields 'Dead' Man

NILES — Police, investigating a report that a dead man was in a parked car, heard one man's solution to the problem of a nagging wife.

The "dead man" rubbed his eyes and told patrolmen: "My wife is a shrew. When she raises a fuss I leave the house, drive around a while and fall asleep. Later on when I go home, she welcomes me with open arms. I go to bed. No fight. No lost sleep."

Cafe Owner To Test State Milk Statute

COLUMBUS — A longstanding argument between restaurant operators and the state agriculture department may be settled by a case scheduled for Preble County common pleas court May 10.

Nub of the argument is a state law which the agriculture department says requires customers be served with containers from which they can pour their own milk. The size of the container must range from a gallon to ¼ of a pint.

This costs us money, wait the restaurant operators. They said it would be much cheaper to buy milk in large quantities, rather than in small containers, and tap it from bulk dispensers.

Defendant in the test case is Chester Wagner of Eaton, president of the National Food Service Assn. The agriculture department recently cited him for illegally serving milk in his restaurant.

Wagner said he invited the case against himself to clear up the law. He said he has been using a modern milk dispenser and serving homogenized milk in glasses with designated marks of one-half pint and one gill (¼ pint) for three years. The markings comply with the law, he contends.

Wagner said milk dispensers have been approved in 46 states and charged "harassment" by the department in its orders forbidding the equipment in restaurants.

C. W. Van Schoik, chief of the department's division of foods and dairies, said there is no doubt about the cleanliness of the bulk milk dispensers. The issue, he says, involves only a weight and measure law.

Doctor Gains Weight On 24 Day Milk Diet

SASKATOON, Sask. — Dr. D.L. Gibson says he hasn't felt so "perky" in years—after a 24-day demonstration diet of three quarts of milk and four ounces of orange juice daily.

He also took one iron tablet every five days.

Dr. Gibson, head of the University of Saskatchewan's dairy science department, told his students milk was an almost-perfect food. When they scoffed, he collected 25 cents from each one to finance the experiment and embarked on the diet March 15.

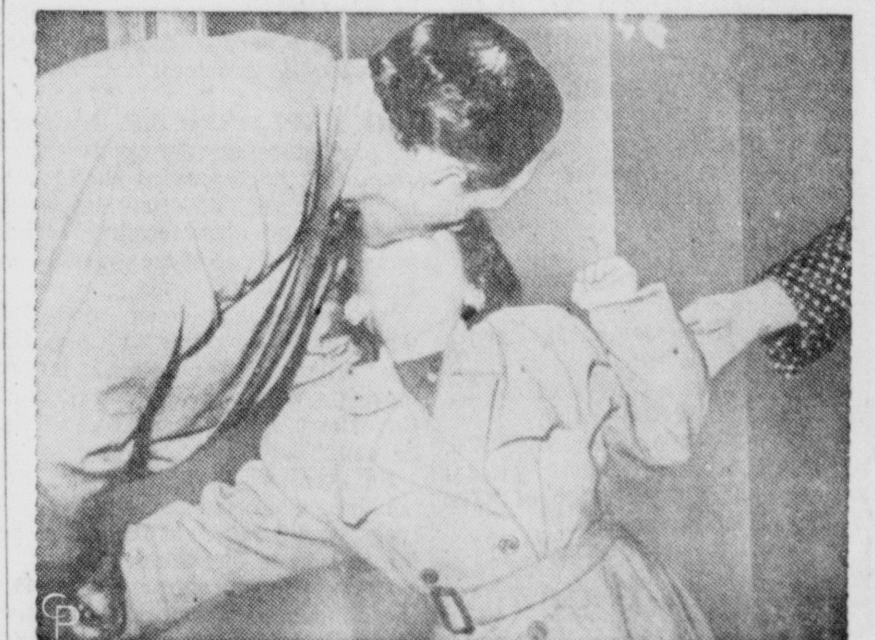

His chief inconvenience, he found, came in rearranging his feeding times. He digested the liquids so rapidly he got hungry every two hours.

The experiment ended Wednesday. His physician, Dr. Glen Kingman, examined him yesterday and said Gibson's health was better than at any time during the eight years he's known him.

Gibson gained three pounds. All that juice added up to about 2,300 calories, more than plenty for a sedentary worker.

Saxbe Aide Named

COLUMBUS — Thomas McCaw of Columbus today was appointed state chairman of the Veterans-for-Saxbe Committee. The appointment was announced by Martin A. Coyle, campaign chairman.

HER MOTHER'S hand pulling her away, 6-year-old Joan Schuttak, hub of a custody battle in Neurnberg, Germany, kisses her father, M/Sgt. William Schuttak, who went there from Binghamton, N. Y., to attempt a reconciliation with his German wife. Schuttak said he would appeal to State department for help.

1954 Seal Drive Reaches Climax Here Saturday With Lily Parade

A tiny paper lily will be the emblem of Pickaway County's generosity Saturday when the annual Easter Seal drive reaches its climax in behalf of crippled children.

The Lily Parade, scheduled in downtown Circleville and several other district communities, means as much to the Easter drive as the Mothers March Dimes. Success of the Lily Parade here last year boosted contributions higher than they had ever been before.

Community leaders in all phases of local activity are on record in favor of full public support for the Lily Parade, actually the distribution of the tiny paper emblems in return for any donation the person may feel like giving. Saturday shoppers are asked to be alert for the Girl Scouts who will be in charge of the lilies, and to be as generous as possible.

The Lily Parade is being held Saturday throughout the nation. The annual fund drive here is directed by the Pickaway County Crippled Children's Society, headed by Mrs. Clark Alexander.

"I DON'T believe the people of Pickaway County need a last-minute appeal for this year's Lily Parade," Mrs. Alexander said. "We discovered last year that the campaign for crippled children is close to the public's heart the whole year through, and we know they won't forget us this year."

"Too often, all of us know, it's beyond the range of all the money in the world—and all the human help in the world—to bring a smile to the face of a crippled child. Therefore, when we see and realize the great advances we have made with the crippled children of Pickaway County—and when we watch them laugh and play among themselves, and feel a part of life—surely it makes a person realize that we've accomplished something tremendous.

Higher Support On Wheat Seen

WASHINGTON — There is a "strong possibility" the Agriculture Department will raise the support loan rate on hard or better quality wheat, Sen. Young (R-ND) said today.

Young had asked Secretary of Agriculture Benson to give recognition to the better grades of wheat so as to provide an incentive to such growers. Under present policy, growers of "soft" wheat receive about the same level of price support loans as do premium wheat growers. In reply, Ross Rizley, assistant secretary, wrote Young that the department was "giving serious consideration" to Young's suggestion.

Young told a reporter he believes there is a good chance that a change is in the offing.

Only One Lima Jail Escapee Still At Large

TAMPA, Fla. — John (Dave) Rankin, 22, who with two other Lima, Ohio, jailbreakers terrorized Tampa for several days, was captured here this morning.

Two detectives who nabbed him were investigating the latest attempted holdup by Rankin. They recognized Rankin, leaped from their car and grabbed him.

Rankin held a paper sack containing two pistols in front of him and another pistol was stuck in his belt. He had not a chance to use the weapons.

Rankin, Richard Rupert and James Moore escaped from the Lima jail March 28.

Moore was arrested here Wednesday after a fight with his two companions, in which he was beaten badly and Rankin was shot in the leg.

Rankin later abducted a Tampa man, William Ellison, and held him for more than two hours trying to get Ellison to persuade a doctor or nurse to treat his wound. He later released him unharmed.

After that, rumors flew that the fugitives were seen here and there, but none panned out.

Then officers in a parked car at a road intersection saw a car similar to that Rankin was reported driving. The driver had a red shirt, as had Rankin.

The car stopped and the man got out, favoring his leg. He reached back into the car for what in the darkness the officers thought was a shotgun. They fired several shots, hit the car, but fortunately missed the man.

He was James Starns, a laboratory technician. He had seen the patrol car and stopped to tell the officers about a suspicious stranger. What he reached for in the car were crutches to assist his polio-crippled legs.

Judge Demands Facts In Case

AKRON — Accused of promoting a numbers game, John Hodoh, 27, was acquitted yesterday and Municipal Judge C. B. McRae ordered police to return $2,054.88 held in evidence.

Attorneys for Hodoh said they would try to recover $8,407.48 more from the federal government.

A police racket squad last year searched Hodoh's home and found $10,000 in currency in the ice box. Treasury agents claimed a share as gambling profits.

The state contended that besides the cash, agents found a list of numbers near a telephone and a large box of coin wrappers.

Judge McRae said "you can't convict merely on suspicious circumstances. You must have facts."

Stolen Jug Said Full Of Poison

AKRON — Whoever stole a half-gallon plastic jug near here had better not drink its contents.

It contains poison, for which there is no known antidote, Floyd S. Owen told police. An exterminator company agent, Owen said the unmarked container disappeared from his automobile between Akron and Wadsworth.

Wiretapping Bill Is Sent To Senators

to wiretap legislation has been evident in the past, and such measures have died in the Judiciary Committee.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.), chairman of a Judiciary subcommittee on wiretapping, said in an interview, however, he is convinced "there is a need for appropriate legislation."

He introduced a bill more than a year ago similar to the measure passed by the House but no hearings have been held on it. Wiley said he would try to arrange for early hearings—"the sooner the better."

The House bill contains a provision which would permit the attorney general, without need for court approval, to use wiretap information already in FBI files in future prosecutions.

But it would also make it unlawful to tap wires except within the narrow limits of the bill, and for the first time would provide penalties for unauthorized wiretapping. The maximums are a $5,000 fine and a year in jail.

The bill states that a judge, before issuing wiretap authority, must be satisfied there is "reasonable grounds" to believe a crime has been committed or is about to be committed.

Court Doles Fines To Three Drivers

Three motorists were fined a total of $20 Thursday by Judge Sterling Lamb in Municipal Court. They were:

Ansel Whiteside, 81, Williamsport; $5 and costs for running a red light; arrested by Officer Charles Smith.

Charles G. Allen, 47, Columbus; $10 and costs for crossing a yellow line; arrested by State Patrolman Bob Greene.

Charles D. McFarland, 26, Piquette; $5 and costs for running a red light; arrested by Smith.

Civil Air Patrol Books Maneuver

COLUMBUS (AP)—Columbus Civil Air Patrol, Squadron 801, will participate in a search and rescue operation Sunday in Mount Vernon.

Squadron commander Maj. James B. Neim said about six planes and 12 men from the Columbus group will join with other CAP squadrons from Delaware, Lancaster and Newark.

The all-day event will include contests for the best spot landings and message drops. The operation will be sponsored by the Mount Vernon CAP squadron and will be held at the Gambier College.

Saltcreek Farmer Suffers Bad Burns

Clayton Bowsher, 70, of Saltcreek Township, was severely burned Thursday when a tractor he was refueling at his farm caught fire. The Circleville Fire Department was notified but could not answer the call because the city has no fire-fighting pact with Saltcreek.

Fred Howell, city fireman on duty, called Sheriff Charles Radcliff who investigated. He reported that Bowsher's hands and legs were burned. In addition to the tractor being destroyed, the garage in which it was kept, an adjoining smokehouse, and a car parked in front of the garage were all burned.

Adelphi and Tarlton Fire Departments reported Bowsher's house was scorched. Quick action by them saved the house from serious damage, according to Radcliff. He brought Bowsher to Circleville for treatment.

Colder Monday but warmer again Tuesday and Wednesday. Total of nearly an inch of rain is expected in showers Saturday night and Sunday and again about Tuesday.

Benson Rapped For Breaching Congress Faith

30 per cent of the increase proposed for state experiment stations and over 45 per cent of the increase sought for the extension service.

It rejected the department's proposal to eliminate funds for indemnity payments for livestock destroyed in connection with the tuberculosis and bang's disease control programs.

Many of the reductions proposed by the department, the committee said, were on "an arbitrary and unrealistic basis."

Another "arbitrary" action, the committee said, was Secretary Benson's freezing of funds of some of the "action programs" last fall only a few months after the department had pleaded with Congress for even more money than was finally voted.

IT CALLED this action "a breach of faith with the Congress" and said it "seriously damages confidence."

By major departmental activities, here is what the committee recommended:

Agricultural Research Administration: $82,059,433, a budget cut of $4,20,255.

Extension service: $38,87,514, a cut of $4,723,486 from the requests. Forest service: $72,284,954, an increase of $683,454.

Soil Conservation Service: $70,27,71, an increase of $4,510,671. Agricultural Marketing Service: $98,590,371, up by $7,790,216.

The total includes $7,011,416 for the school lunch program, for which the department had requested only $68 million and which was given approximately $83 million this year.

Commodity Stabilizing Service: $99,600,000, a budget cut of 2 1/2 million. This service operates the Commodity Credit Corp., the acreage allotment and marketing programs, the sugar act, the international wheat agreement and various other activities.

Crop insurance program: $5,700,000, the amount requested. Office of information: $1,180,400, an increase of $212,400 to permit resumption of publication of "The Yearbook of Agriculture."

Stroll On Highway Illegal, Man Fined

A little used traffic law was used against a 57-year-old Piketon man, Arthur W. Neal. He was fined $10 and costs by Municipal Judge Sterling Lamb for walking on the wrong side of a highway.

State Patrolman Ray Hoylman arrested Neal Wednesday night on complaints of motorists on Route 23 north of Circleville. Hoylman had previously helped Neal that same night when Neal's truck ran out of gas.

Hoylman stated he did not believe Neal was in good enough condition to drive his truck. So the patrolman took the truck keys and told Neal to rest up.

However, a short time later, Neal started off on the highway. As it was dark and he was walking with his back to traffic, plus the fact that he did not keep to the side of the road, caused motorists to phone the authorities.

Fritzi Scheff, 74, Dies In Gotham

NEW YORK (AP)—Fritzi Scheff, who sparkled in opera from the turn of the century and whose blazing star never quite set, died yesterday at the age of 74.

The saucy, piquant luminary of another era (she made her stage debut in 1898) was active in the entertainment field until the very end. She had been appearing on television and radio, with future commitments, and even made a comeback four years ago at the old Palace Theater, where she last played 25 years before that.

Narcotics Topic Of Ammer Talk, Officers Named At PTA Meeting

"There is no narcotic problem in Circleville or Pickaway County, according to officials," Prosecutor William Ammer told a meeting of the city PTA Thursday. Ammer was guest speaker on the program which included the election of officers for 1954-55.

Dr. William A. Rickey is the new president. First vice-president is Robert Adkins, while Mrs. Austin Dowden is second. Recording secretary is Mrs. Allen Ankrom and Mrs. R. C. Kifer is corresponding secretary. Treasurer is Frank Wantz.

Ammer's talk came under the topic, "The Narcotic Problem in Ohio." He pointed out that use of narcotics has been on the increase since World War I.

"It is hard to get the user or peddler to admit the source of supply," he commented. "The statutes in Ohio are very inadequate against the narcotic problem."

HE EXPLAINED that there are no provisions for the treatment of an addict. Such persons need treatment and rehabilitation, he said. The one and only hospital which handles this type of treatment is in Lexington, Ky.

"A survey has been made of Ohio's 20 larger cities," he remarked. "Where the population is larger more narcotics users are found. But where one is found, five or six go unnoticed."

He stressed that drugs are expensive. Users go usually into all types of crime to get the drugs or the money to buy them.

"There is reason for parents to be concerned," he stated. "Be ever alert to notify your city and county officials if any evidence is found in relation to narcotics."

He concluded by saying that the State Attorney General is now asking for citizen's committees to be set up in each county. These people will work out suggestions to be passed on to the state citizen's committee for use in guiding better legislation on the use of narcotics in Ohio.

Installation of the newly elected officers will take place at the last regular meeting of the PTA in May. Carl C. Leist, president of the Circleville Board of Education will be the installing officer. The executive board will serve refreshments at the meeting. The committee in charge includes:

Mrs. D. S. Goldschmidt, Mrs. Ned Harden, Mrs. Ed Grigg and Mrs. Lloyd Fisher.

Shopping Visit Good Time To Add Signatures

Many readers of The Herald who have yet to add their signatures to the list being lined up here against the Chinese Communists may find it convenient to do so during downtown shopping visits Saturday.

Purpose of the campaign launched by The Herald is to let Pickaway County speak out for itself against any move to admit the Chinese Reds to the United Nations. Diplomatic reports say such a drive, sponsored by Soviet Russia, may be unveiled when the great powers meet in Switzerland April 26.

Russia and the western nations will meet at the Far East Conference in Geneva.

Signatures gathered in this district will be relayed to the nation's capital well in advance of the Geneva meeting date, to encourage U. S. spokesmen with a bit of cross-section sentiment from plain, every-day American citizens. Such encouragement, it was indicated, may be needed at Geneva since France and Britain may both be willing to admit the Reds to the UN for strategic purposes.

LOCAL RESIDENTS can have their choice as to which way they want to add their signatures—either by signing a petition waiting at The Herald offices, 210 N. Court St., or by signing the coupon running in recent issues of the paper. The coupon today appears on page two.

The clipped and signed coupons should be hurried to The Herald in any way found convenient.

MRS. JACOB ROWL

Mrs. Ellen Rowl, 79, of Laurelville, died at 6:30 p. m. Thursday in the home of her sister, Mrs. Lill DeLong of Laurelville, after a year's illness.

Mrs. Rowl was born Oct. 8, 1874, in Saltcreek Township, a daughter of George and Sarah Ellen Crites Lutz. She was a lifelong resident of Saltcreek Township and a member of Evangelical Reformed church.

Her husband, Jacob Rowl, died Dec. 15, 1944.

Surviving her are two sisters, Mrs. DeLong, with whom she made her home in the final weeks of her illness, and Mrs. Emma Hickman of Lancaster, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in Defenbaugh Funeral home with the Rev. Clayton Lutz officiating. Burial will be in Green Summit Cemetery, Adelphi.

Friends may call in the funeral home at any time.

Youth Is Held For Grand Jury Trial

One of a pair caught here early Tuesday, and accused of a break-in at South Bloomfield, was ordered held on $2000 bond by Municipal Court here and bound over to the Grand Jury.

Michael Hatfield, 20, of Mansfield, and his companion, a juvenile, were arrested in Circleville by Sgt. Rod List and Officer Leonard Lingo because their car had no tail-light. On questioning, the youths admitted burglarizing the Valley View market. Both are being charged with breaking and entering, and petit larceny.

Reid Reminds Buyers Of Cut In Excise Tax

Many Still Unaware Merchants Relay It To Customer

Savings to the taxpayers of Pickaway County through the excise tax cuts which went into effect recently are now reflected in the total price figures on a wide variety of services and products, President Henry L. Reid of Circleville Chamber of Commerce reminded shoppers Friday.

He called attention to the fact that merchants began immediately to pass along the savings to the buying public, since the reduction was in federal tax on base prices. Many shoppers, he added, have yet to learn of the new, lower scale of full prices, since the excise tax cut only became effective April 1.

Reid, elected earlier this week as the new head of the city Chamber, said a resultant lull in trade here will probably be felt through the immediate future to augment normal Springtime buying.

Meanwhile, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce estimated that savings to Ohio taxpayers through the tax cuts will amount to more than $38 million for the remainder of 1954.

OHIO CHAMBER President C. I. Weaver pointed out that the savings for a full year, ending April 1, 1955, will be $50,886,663, compared to $999,000,000 for the nation for the same period.

By carefully evaluated formulas, the Ohio Chamber Research Department determined the largest savings for Ohioans in the nine-month calculation would be $14,337.195 on local and long distance telephone calls.

The next largest savings for the same period will amount to $5,961.600 on general admissions, and savings on jewelry and transportation of persons will amount to nearly $4,000,000 each.

Savings on other excise tax cut items follow:

- Refrigerators, freezers; electric, gas and oil appliances, except air conditioners, $3,476,810.
- Toilet preparations, $2,149,125.
- Sporting goods, mechanical pens, pencils, lighters, electric light bulbs, photographic equipment, matches and cutting oil, $1,922,439.
- Luggage, $1,563,000.
- Furs, $781,500.
- Leases of safety deposit boxes, $179,625.

Alabama GI To Get Top Medal

SEOUL (AP)—A modest soft-spoken young Southerner shook his head in bewilderment and said, in a voice little more than a whisper, "I never thought anything like this would ever be within my reach."

Twenty-two-year-old Sgt. I. C. L. Mize of Gadsden, Ala., had just learned he was to get America's highest military award, the Medal of Honor. Last June, in 14 hours, he is credited with rescuing a wounded fellow American, killing at least 65 Chinese, regrouping his men for the counterattack which eventually drove the Reds off the outpost, and then helping evacuate the wounded.

Saxbe Frowning On War Chances

ZANESVILLE (AP)—William Saxbe, candidate for the Republican nomination for Ohio senator, says the United States should not take an active part in the Indochinese war.

"I do not think we should get involved in another Korea," he said. However, he added, "we must meet commitments we already have made for giving material aid."

Ad Publicizes Happy Marriage

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Classified ad in the Oakland Tribune:

"I am responsible for all debts and obligations of my wife, Virginia, both present and future, and am more than happy to be the provider for a woman who has borne me five lovely daughters and with an overabundance of love and care has made the past eight years of married life the nicest years of my life. On this our eighth anniversary, I wish to publicly express my gratitude, David Rouse."

Rousseau explained from his San Lorenzo home he chose this way to celebrate his eighth wedding anniversary "just to show that there are some happy married couples in the world."

Man Demanding His Own Arrest

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Henry Lamb handed Deputy Sheriff Paul Pruitt a warrant for the rest of Henry Lamb.

Yes, Lamb assured him, he wanted himself arrested.

He said he had obtained the warrant, which charged adultery, through a friend because of a guilty conscience. A second warrant obtained by Lamb named a married woman, but Sheriff Alex Blackburn said his "boys hadn't been able to find her."

Lamb was lodged in the county jail.

2 OSU Students Bound To Jury

COLUMBUS (AP)—Alfred G. Stucky 19-year-old Ohio State University agriculture student from Hudson, and Robert Phippen, 18-year-old OSU pre-medical student from Troy, were bound to the grand jury yesterday on charges of taking $7,000 from stores here.

A third Ohio State student, Roger L. Walton, an agriculture major from Twinsburg, still is being questioned about the burglaries.

Workman Admits Posing As Doctor

ELYRIA (AP)—A 27-year-old workman admitted to police he posed as a county doctor and examined seven young women.

Dep. Sheriff Joseph Guzik quoted Dale Bohoric as saying he told the women they would be subject to a $100 fine if they did not submit to the examination. Bohoric is being held in county jail for felonious assault charge.

Bender Bosses Drawing Fire From Saxbe

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—"The Bender bosses might well consider that in attempting to force party discipline they may instead commit party suicide," William Saxbe, candidate for the GOP senatorial nomination told a group of civic leaders here yesterday.

Saxbe's statement was in reference to the Republican State Policy Committee's endorsement of Rep. George H. Bender for the nomination before Saxbe entered the race.

The policy committee recently congratulated Bender on refraining from "mud-slinging" in the campaign. Saxbe replied:

"If talk about George Bender's record is 'mud-slinging' then Bender can prepare for a lot of it before May 4" (The date of the primary election).

"I am just beginning to read the record of my opponent. Every Republican in Ohio should be aware that Democrat Tom Burke can read as well in November as I can in April."

Burke, a Democrat, is serving as U. S. senator by appointment until a successor to serve the last two years of the term of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft can be filled by election. Burke is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Warden Asks End Of Solitary Terms

COLUMBUS (AP)—Warden Ralph W. Alvis has asked Gov. Frank J. Lausche to suspend court-required solitary confinement on one or more days a year for prisoners in Ohio Penitentiary.

Alvis said in his seven years as warden he became convinced that "solitary confinement operates adversely in the rehabilitation of prisoners and hampers their proper adjustment to prison life." The warden asserted "solitary" had an impact on other prisoners as well as those confined. Alvis recalled that in 1930 the governor commuted solitary confinement portions of sentences for 31 inmates.

Heavy Trucks Help Jingle JP Cashboxes

Mayors, Magistrates Do Big Business In Overloading Cases

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Some justices of the peace and mayors pocketed sizable sums last year from costs assessed in their courts for overloaded trucks.

The Legislature took mayors holding court off the fee system this year but allowed squires to continue the practice of keeping the costs levied with fines in cases they handle.

State Highway Patrolmen say they prefer to hale drivers of overloaded trucks before mayors' courts, instead of justices of the peace, but are governed by the location of weighing stations.

Patrol records showed justices of the peace near Edinburg were kept busy last year by overloading violations. The Portage County town lies between Youngstown's steel mills and Akron's rubber factories.

J. P. courts near the Edinburg weighing station handled 2,340 overloading cases last year. Ines for convictions totaled $102,711. Costs were an additional $11,701, averaging about $5 a case.

Only eight overloading cases came before the mayor's court there during the year. He assessed fines of $373.

The situation was reversed for violators apprehended at the patrol weighing station where U.S. 40 and 42 cross west of Columbus. Mayors of London and West Jefferson in Madison County handled 1711 cases. Their fines totaled $58,821 and costs $8,029. Peace justices handled only two patrol cases. Fines were $50.

The mayor's court at Medina on U.S. 42 handled 998 cases in 1953. Fines totaled $38,455 and costs $5,315.

Cases were more evenly divided near three other weighing stations. At Findlay, the mayor handled 473 cases. Fines were $18,452 and costs $2,402.

Justices of the peace at Hessville on busy U. S. 20 in Sandusky County levied $40,779 in fines for 902 convictions and costs of $4,330. Other cases there were taken to the mayor of Fremont who levied $9,185 in fines for 240 convictions. Costs totaled $1,221.

The patrol arrested 649 truckers at Vandalia where U.S. 40 and 25 cross north of Dayton. They obtained 392 convictions in the mayor's court and 257 in those of peace justices. The mayor levied fines of $13,122 and costs of $2,038. J.P. fines totaled $9,243 and costs $1,259.

Highway patrol officers noted fines were set by statute. They run $25 for an overloading conviction plus an additional sum on a graduated scale for the excess.

Final Figures Trace Success Of 1954 Polio Campaign Here

Final figures have been issued on the 1954 March of Dimes in Pickaway County, one of the most effective drives of its kind held in the district in recent years.

Treasurer George M. Meyers announced net receipts of this year's campaign, the annual effort to strengthen the district's defenses against polio, reached a booming $13,281.23. Outstanding success of this year's drive was credited to the smooth-working army of volunteers who solicited funds in the rural areas.

While the March of Dimes organization centered on Circleville again rallied full public support, leaders have emphasized, the results elsewhere in the county this year were more impressive than ever before. Meyers confirmed that regional spokesmen for the nationwide campaign, topped by the Mothers' March on Polio, inquired here as to the methods used this year to bring about the surprising total.

Of net receipts, one-third will be turned directly into polio prevention steps, leaving a balance of $8,854.15. And this amount will be divided equally between the Pickaway County Chapter and national headquarters to maintain the work of the organization through the year.

A FURTHER breakdown of figures on this year's drive in Pickaway County included the following: Advance special gifts, $19.57; corporate and business gifts, $815.54; collections in schools and colleges, $1,035.08; Mother's March $6,155.01; coin collectors, $731.05; March of Dimes cards, $1,569.14; sports division, $302.20; special events, $112.69; collections in motion picture theaters $284.80; clubs and organizations, $2,263.82; A my posts and veterans activities, $342; total receipts, $13,630.90; expenses, $349.67; net receipts, $13,281.23.

Man Is Killed Jailing Brother

MORGAN, Utah (AP)—Attempts to throw their older brother in jail or intoxication ended in death last night for one, Norris Stuart, about 33, a milk farmer in the Morgan area.

Norris was helping one brother, Morgan County Sheriff T. J. Stuart, jail Verde Stuart, another brother, when the shooting broke out. Norris was hit in the chest. He died instantly, officers said.

Sheriff Stuart said Verde was searched for weapons and none was found. Norris was hit by a bullet from a .22-caliber automatic pistol.

Verde was being held in the Morgan County Jail pending the outcome of an inquest called by County Atty. Grant Neilsen.

Mutual Service Seen Key To World Peace

Members of Circleville Rotary Club at their weekly meeting Thursday heard a talk in which Eastertide reflections on fellowship were blended with the realistic views of the modern world of survival.

In the main address of the gathering, Judge James F. Bell of the Madison County Court of Common Pleas, reminded his listeners that man's contentment must be based largely upon love of neighbor and a willingness to serve toward mutual ends. He called particular attention to the potent force for peace and understanding that exists in the 8,000 Rotary clubs throughout the world, with a total membership of more than 380,000.

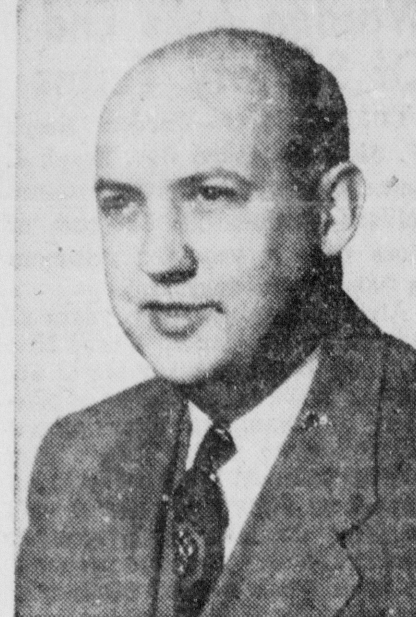

Judge Bell, on the Madison County bench for the past eight years, spoke on "Peace Through Service."

He serves as governor for District 231 of Rotary International. "Our safety as individuals and as a nation," he said, "no longer rests entirely upon the ability of our armed forces to repel invasion. Safety against attack now demands, to great degree, that we make our services so essential to our neighbors that they—for their own existence—cannot afford to attack us."

"The admonition 'Thou Shalt Love Thy Neighbor' thus becomes a universal imperative, and service-to-others becomes synonymous with survival-of-self."

JUDGE BELL is a candidate this year for Ohio Supreme Court judge.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government still faces a stiff road before it can try to convict a spy or subversive on information picked up by tapping his telephone.

The FBI for years has had information against alleged Communist spies obtained by wiretapping. But the law forbids its use in court. Therefore, says Atty. Gen. Brownell, those cases can't be brought to trial.

He asked Congress to change the law. The House agreed to this yesterday. Unless the Senate also approves, the law remains unchanged. The Senate hasn't begun to consider the problem yet, although Congress ends its session in a few months.

The difficulty goes back to 1934 when Congress passed the Federal Communications Act, part of which said: "No person, not being authorized by the sender, shall intercept any communication and divulge or publish the existence, contents, substance, purport, effect or meaning of such intercepted communication to any person."

In a test case later the Supreme Court ruled the law meant the government could not use as evidence against a man on trial in federal court either information obtained by wiretapping or even information for which the wiretapping merely provided leads.

One attorney general after another, including Brownell, has acted in the belief that the Supreme Court didn't say wiretapping itself was illegal under the 1934 law but only that wiretap information couldn't be used as evidence.

So for years the FBI has been tapping wires under the approval of the attorney general, whoever he happened to be. President Roosevelt himself in the early days of World War II authorized it.

This was the result of growing national concern about spies and saboteurs, a mood which has increased with the disclosure in recent years of the activities of Communists in the government.

Here are examples of how the mood has changed: FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in 1929 said he opposed wiretapping and would fire any of his men who tried it.

House Republicans in 1941 overwhelmingly voted against a bill to legalize it.

Now the Republican administration—spurred by Brownell and led by the Republican leadership in the House—yesterday put through the House a bill to permit the use of wiretap evidence in court.

Nevertheless, Brownell didn't get all he asked. He wanted the 1934 law changed to say this:

In any case involving national security wiretap information could be used against a man in federal court if the attorney general had approved the wiretapping beforehand.

By national security was meant subversion, treason, sabotage, spying, conspiracy. Wiretap information in any other crime, like murder or kidnaping, still could not be used as evidence in court.

But House Democrats and some Republicans heeded arguments that someday an attorney general might abuse the power and no one could predict where that might lead.

So, instead of giving Brownell exactly what he asked, a majority of the House voted a bill which said:

Wiretap evidence cannot be used in court, even in a case involving national security, unless a federal judge previously has considered the case so grave that he has authorized the government to tap wires for evidence.

(The FBI could still tap wires without a judge's approval, but in that case their evidence couldn't be used at a trial.)

Nevertheless, under the House-passed bill, wiretap information

Revised Security Program Set Up For Armed Forces

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson has established a revised security program designed "to clean out and keep out" of the armed forces persons deemed to be loyalty risks.

Wilson announced the new directive, and the security-loyalty yardsticks it lays down, at a public hearing before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Its objective, he said, is to provide uniform standards for the Army, Navy and Air Force and "to speed up our procedures for getting such individuals out of the service and for keeping them out."

The new directive declared a general policy that the Defense Department will assume that acceptance or retention of any member of the armed services is clearly consistent with the interest of national security "unless and until a determination to the contrary is made."

"HOWEVER," it continues, "when credible information which raises the question of security is received action will be taken to determine whether acceptance or retention is consistent with the interests of national security."

"In no case will any person reasonably believed to have at any time engaged in any of the activities listed . . . be appointed or enlisted in any of the armed services without the approval of the secretary of the armed service concerned."

In the cases of draftees the directive declares:

1. "Known Communists will not be inducted into the Armed services."

2. Inductees who do not "satisfactorily" fill out loyalty questionnaires or whose questionnaires disclose "significant derogatory information . . . will be accepted into the service and retained on non-sensitive assignments in the lowest enlisted pay grade permitted by law, pending completion of a thorough investigation."

The order continues: "In the event this investigation reveals that further retention would be inconsistent with the interests of national security, he (the inductee) will be separated under other than honorable conditions. Should the investigation disclose insufficient derogatory information to warrant separation in the interest of national security, he will be continued in the service and thereafter appropriately assigned," the character of his ultimate discharge to be determined by his subsequent conduct.

The directive calls for court martial trial for cases susceptible of such treatment, and administrative handling of other cases. Findings in the administrative proceedings are to be subject to review by the secretary of the armed service in which the man served.

obtained in previous years against alleged spies and subversives—information useless under the present 1934 law as evidence—could now be used in court to prosecute some of those Brownell couldn't bring to court before.

But the bill still has to go through the long route of hearings and consideration in the Senate before Congress closes.

Your Election Laws . . .

By Ted W. Brown
Secretary of State of Ohio
(One of a Series)

With the coming Primary Election, an increased interest has been shown in the qualifications for voting. So, it might be worthwhile to devote this article to that subject.

To vote in Ohio, a person must be a U. S. citizen, 21 years of age or over, a resident of the state for one year and of the county and precinct 40 days. Those residing in registration areas must be registered in order to vote.

If a person moves from one precinct to another within a county or from one county to another within 40 days before the election, he can vote in the precinct from which he moved.

Here's something the younger citizens of Ohio will be glad to know! If a person will be 21 before November 2, 1954, he may vote at the May 4 Primary.

A PERSON WHO seeks to vote may be challenged for any of the following reasons, according to Ohio law: 1) lack of citizenship; 2) lack of residence qualifications; 3) lack of age requirements. And, at the Primary Election a person may be challenged for lack of party membership.

Ohio's election laws are based on the "two party" system and the members of each political party determine at the Primaries who their party nominees for the November General Election shall be. Therefore, Democrats vote in the Democratic Primary and Republicans in the Republican Primary, making it obviously necessary for the voter to state his political affiliation to obtain the correct ballot.

If challenged on the grounds that he is not a member of the party for which he asked a ballot, the test of party affiliation is how he cast his ballot in the next preceding general election in an even-numbered year.

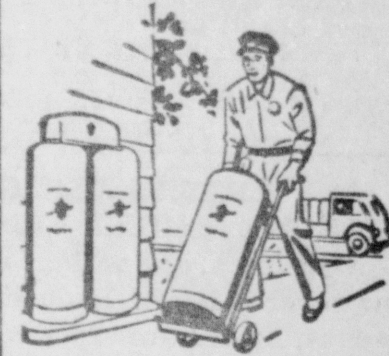

If he is able to give a sworn statement that he voted for a majority of the candidates of a political party in that general election, he is by law a member of that party and may vote the ballot of that party.

If he has never voted at a previous regular state election, he may choose his Primary ballot by making a sworn statement of his party selections.

UPTURN EXPECTED

HAS THE SLIGHT business downturn spent its force, and will the economic trend now reverse itself? Reductions in excise taxes on April 1 are reported to have had a favorable effect on sales. The automobile business is improving somewhat, and Detroit executives are more optimistic.

Businessmen and government economists are generally in agreement that excise tax reductions were what the nation's economy needed. Of the two groups, the President's counsellors are perhaps the more optimistic. They predict that the cut of more than $1,000,000,000 will precipitate a substantial spurt in consumer buying. Manufacturers and retailers say sales have already picked up.

Both business and government executives are encouraged by the fact that consumers have the necessary purchasing power, as evidenced by a record growth in personal savings. With money in the bank, consumers are likely to be intrigued by substantially lower prices of many items resulting from the tax cuts.

The national economy has many deep sources of strength. The building boom continues unabated. Money is in plentiful supply at reasonable rates of interest. Rising automobile sales will be reflected in steel mill operations.

Wall Street has lost some of its prestige as a business barometer, but booming turnover of stocks at highest prices in 25 years is added evidence that the upturn has started.

EYE ON TITO

IT'S NECESSARY to proceed under the assumption that little news gets out of a Communist country, even one presumably friendly to the West, that the bosses in control don't want to make known. Hence, the news from Tito's Yugoslavia suggesting that a secret underground organization is threatening the government becomes immediately suspect. The best guess is that a new purge is in the making.

Fall guy more than likely will be an unfortunate named Djilas, former vice president, who was kicked out last year for crossing the marshal. According to some interpretations, Djilas led a movement calling on Yugoslavia to align itself more genuinely with the West.

But this came at a time when Tito decided to play both the West and East against the middle. It is no secret that after Stalin's death, the Yugoslav strong man figured he could make a better deal with the Kremlin. Apparently he's still trying.

The man on horseback can shift directions as rapidly as the time it takes to pull on the reins. A marriage with totalitarianism, no matter how fully justified as an expedience, is never more than a momentary convenience.

These Days

Lady Astor, whose wit is so attractive, has made the point that Left-Wing Conservatism saved the Tory party in Great Britain; that the heavy-handed Tories could only have saved the Socialists. She apparently advises the Republicans to accept a mild dose of New Dealism to avoid a heavy dose of the A.D.A.

That might have been the program of the Eisenhower Administration had the Republican Party not permitted itself to be splintered and fractionated by diversions which are neither important to the party nor the country. For that reason, those who used to regard themselves as Taft Republicans—that is, those who could accept social reforms but not Socialism—wonder what has become of their party and whether it has any program at all. Calling Adlai Stevenson an egghead, which is a euphemism for an educated dope, is not a program.

A case of fractionization appeared in the Women's National Republican Club in New York, which is a center for what might be called Republican intellectualism and has a committee to study the problems of Communism, which they have been doing in a manner that might be called interesting but unproductive.

So this committee invited William F. Buckley, Jr., to speak before it on April 26 and he accepted the invitation. Meanwhile, his book, "McCarthy and His Enemies," appeared, whereupon the board of directors cancelled the Buckley engagement. For some reason, they were not too anxious to tell him about it, but it leaked out and caused a quarrel that may seem of no significance compared to the hydrogen bomb, but which may nevertheless seriously affect the vote in New York in the 1954 campaign.

For, while what Lady Astor calls Left-Wing Republicans may have many thoughts on great subjects, the mechanics of party operations are the routine Republicans who waited for 20 years for the Democrats to be defeated and who were steadfast and loyal during those 20 years, doing the chores of party work in what appeared to be a political desert.

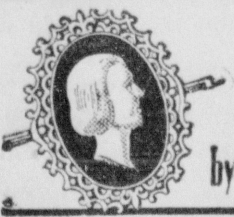

They are still in the desert with no oasis in sight. One of their number is Chairman of the Republican National Committee, but he has not been able to bring much bacon to his state in the form of jobs and honors to those who were steadfast and loyal in the bleak days of Roosevelt and Truman. The rejection of Buckley as a speaker before a Republican club is symbolic to the true and tried that their kind are not wanted.

What is being said among these ladies is repeated in every clubhouse in the State of New York. While it may appear to some that Governor Dewey's rough treatment of his principal supporters, because their associations with race-track ownership became public, is the cause for dissension, actually working-politicians of both parties know about such things and expect the top boss to look fierce when the whitewash becomes impossible.

The American people spend more for classical music than for baseball, and to those behind the iron curtain it is no doubt a mystery how they can afford both.

SYNOPSIS
Gale Taber, a widow, had refused Sewell Albright's offer of marriage, feeling that it would be unfair to foist upon this fine old family friend, whom she had known since childhood, the burden of supporting her. She had carried on the business of breeding blooded horses on their farm in Tennessee after her husband's death, but a market for luxury stock had vanished. Then, too, there were her lovely daughters, Ravel and Julia, to be considered in any matter of family plans. Ravel, her older girl, was handsome, red-haired, spirited almost beyond control. She devoted herself passionately to the training of the Taber horses, while her younger sister, Julia, seemed content as a student nurse at their local hospital. One rainy November afternoon, Julia brought young Dr. Pete Marshall home with her from the hospital, to meet her family, and John-Mark Williamson, a neighboring young farmer whom everyone thought to be in love with Ravel. But Ravel lost no time turning her guns of conquest on the attractive doctor, and he, in turn, left behind a destitute mother who harbored vague ailments and had to be helped often than Farrell's salary justified. Following his pattern of blithe irresponsibility Tommy had never bothered to take out any insurance.

Lately Farrell's dreams had been wild and troubling. Seeing Sewell Albright every day, thinking back over the years when he had been fatherly, gentle and good, when he had depended on her to do things for his motherless children, when she had been "Rhody," his right hand, was making her association with Sewell a daily anguish of frustration and dismal shame of her own folly.

She knew how old Sewell was, more than 20 years older than herself; she knew, too, that it was doubtful if he had ever been really conscious of her as a woman. Reliable as an adding machine, asking nothing, always around when he needed her, when Pierce had needed his tonsils out or when Sally had grown too silly over some boy and must be persuaded to go to camp—these had made up Farrell's role in Sewell Albright's life. Until now, when the dream was growing too strong for her and she was troubled by a stiffening self-consciousness for fear that what seethed in her mind and heart might be showing in her eyes.

And now there was a new torment. Gale Taber. She did not know Gale Taber, except as a rural address where now too often she was directed, very casually, to send little packages, books, boxes of fruit.

"Order me a good bottle of wine, Rhody. I want to take it out to Gale Taber."

She had thought for a little that Gale Taber was a man. Now she knew. Now, tonight, and it was her grandmother who struck the blow, in all innocence.

"I saw your boss as I was going down the street, Farrie. My, but he's a fine-looking man yet, never know he was most as old as your father. Saw him coming out of that new French restaurant over on the avenue; had a mighty

There had been one brief, ecstatic break in the monotony of life for Farrell Rhodes. It had lasted four weeks and ended less than 10 days after she had been married to Tommy Rhodes. It had been a lovely dream and the crash of Tommy's plane on a Florida training field had lifted it to the enduring status of a dream. There had been no returning, no disillusionment, no pain of discovery that Tommy, for most of his young life before she had met him, had been a footloose, blithe and irresponsible scallawag.

The dream was growing thin now after six years, and there were days and nights when it was hard for Farrell to remember what Tommy looked like. He had been a gay gift, tossed into the dull orbit of her days, as completely as a ditting comet. Tommy had also left behind a destitute mother who harbored vague ailments and had to be helped often than Farrell's salary justified. Following his pattern of blithe irresponsibility Tommy had never bothered to take out any insurance.

Lately Farrell's dreams had been wild and troubling. Seeing Sewell Albright every day, thinking back over the years when he had been fatherly, gentle and good, when he had depended on her to do things for his motherless children, when she had been "Rhody," his right hand, was making her association with Sewell a daily anguish of frustration and dismal shame of her own folly.

She knew how old Sewell was, more than 20 years older than herself; she knew, too, that it was doubtful if he had ever been really conscious of her as a woman. Reliable as an adding machine, asking nothing, always around when he needed her, when Pierce had needed his tonsils out or when Sally had grown too silly over some boy and must be persuaded to go to camp—these had made up Farrell's role in Sewell Albright's life. Until now, when the dream was growing too strong for her and she was troubled by a stiffening self-consciousness for fear that what seethed in her mind and heart might be showing in her eyes.

And now there was a new torment. Gale Taber. She did not know Gale Taber, except as a rural address where now too often she was directed, very casually, to send little packages, books, boxes of fruit.

"Order me a good bottle of wine, Rhody. I want to take it out to Gale Taber."

She had thought for a little that Gale Taber was a man. Now she knew. Now, tonight, and it was her grandmother who struck the blow, in all innocence.

"I saw your boss as I was going down the street, Farrie. My, but he's a fine-looking man yet, never know he was most as old as your father. Saw him coming out of that new French restaurant over on the avenue; had a mighty pretty girl with him. He knew me, too, shook hands as though I was the best friend he ever had and introduced me to the girl. Taber, her name was."

"A young girl? You mean he was with a young girl?"

"About as young as you, I'd say. Younger, maybe. You can't tell any more. Red-gold hair, she had, and a fur coat, kind of worn it was, too; enough good pelts in it to make a nice, stylish jacket I was thinking when I looked at it."

Gale had been a trifle stunned and bewildered at first when Sewell's attention shifted, then for a week or so she had accepted the situation with something like relief. Lately she had shown signs of anxiety.

"It's all right to have fun, Ravel," she protested, "but Sewell's an old friend and I don't want him hurt. Don't let him get any fantastic ideas. They do sometimes when they're Sewell's age."

"You don't want Sewell yourself, Gale," Ravel remarked. "He's given up on you, so if you don't want him why hang on to him? When I'm tired of a thing I drop it with a bang. I don't tie a lot of strings to it and worry at it from then on."

The door crashed behind her.

The early snow had melted and made everything green. On an impulse Gale got into a leather coat and boots and tied a scarf around her head. Ravel was in the stable, squatting on the concrete floor with a horse's hoof on her knees while a stable man nunkered down anxiously near by.

"Shod all wrong!" Ravel stormed as her mother came in. "I'm supposed to train a colt with eight ounces of surplus metal on each foot. Pull them, Robert. Pull all of them. I'll hobble him down to the shop and get it done properly myself. Why don't we have our own forge, Gale? Robert could learn to shape shoes and put them on."

The thin, nervous little man got to his feet hurriedly. "Not me, Miss Taber. I ain't got the muscle for that kind of work."

"A forge would be an expensive piece of equipment. We can't afford it," Gale said grimly.

"I'll have to take old Charlie some money," Ravel scrambled up and bent to watch as Robert brought a tool and began loosening the shoes. "He says we owe him some ridiculous sum, and I suppose we do. I haven't bothered keeping track of it."

"From now on please keep track of it," Gale said. "We have to know about expenses and costs. We can't operate this place without being businesslike."

"I'll take him some on account now," Ravel tossed a saddle over the colt's back. "I suppose there's some money in your desk? I'd better sweeten Charlie up a mite."

WASHINGTON —Although Sen. Joe McCarthy's intricate financial affairs have been investigated and questioned by a Senate subcommittee, Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. says that he finds no evidence of wrongdoing.

But McCarthy's reported failure to make any income tax reports from 1946 to 1949, inclusive, when he earned $7,397 as a Wisconsin judge for one year and $12,500 annually as a senator for three years, not to mention investment profits, may still be under review by T. Coleman Andrews, the Virginian who heads Internal Revenue. Under the law, however, he cannot discuss even the humblest taxpayer's relationship with Uncle Sam.

McCarthy's various deals were submitted to the departments of Justice and Treasury by a Senate Subcommittee on privileges and Elections after a lengthy examination. But Brownell's conclusion indicates that the senator's heavy bank borrowings and stock market speculations are beyond his jurisdiction. Finally, if it is found that back taxes are due, there need be no publicity about any repayment.

Wealth — Before discussing the senator's pocketbook, bank and stock market ventures, it should be noted that he is an extremely smart operator. His bank - financed investments in soybeans, railroad stock and other commodities and securities have made him a fairly wealthy man.

His crusade against Communists, which has the backing of Texas multimillionaires and many $5 contributors, has won him wide popularity. In fact, the Senate investigators asked whether he was using these contributions to finance his fight against the Reds or what.

Six times he has refused to testify before the Senate subcommittee, denouncing the inquiry as a "smear." By a 60-0 vote, the full chamber sided with the subcommittee.

ATTACK—McCarthy began his now famous attack on Reds in government in a Lincoln Day address in Wheeling, W. Va., in February of 1950. Immediately, although this particular speech was handed to him in hit-or-miss manner by the Republican National Committee, the money began to roll in.

On Sept. 7, 1950, he opened a $10,500 account at the National Savings & Trust Co. of Washington, D. C. He had started a smaller account at the Riggs National Bank in May. The sum of $10,000 came from Rep. Alvin M. Bentley of Michigan. In March of 1951, Mrs. Bentley contributed another $3,657.

"$10,000—Three weeks after depositing the Bentley $10,000, McCarthy authorized Jean Kerr, then his secretary and now his wife, to withdraw that amount to the account of an old friend in his home town of Appleton, Wis., Henry J. Van Straten. The latter promptly turned the check over to McCarthy's broker, Wayne Hummer and Co., who bought soybeans for future delivery.

This deal produced a $17,500 profit within a few months, and Van Straten deposited $10,000 of it to McCarthy's account at the Riggs National Bank. For the 1949-1952 period, inclusive, Mc-

By Ray Tucker

Carthy banked $149,273.13 with Riggs. His staff aide and long-time friend, Ray Kiermas, deposited $75,309.23 in the same years. On advice of counsel, Kiermas refused to answer any questions about his finances.

SUGGESTION — McCarthy scoffed at a national magazine's suggestions that he submit to a lie detector test, although he has proposed use of this medium in his current controversy with the Army over the Cohn-Schine incident.

McCarthy's financial affairs, about which many readers are so curious, are too tangled to be discussed in a single article. They will be examined in detail in a subsequent column, with all facts based on the subcommittee report.

Incidentally, it is almost impossible to obtain that document because of the reorganized committee's refusal to authorize or finance additional copies. A McCarthy friend, Sen. William E. Jenner of Indiana, now runs the Committee on Privileges and Elections.

Ashville Garden Club Hears Address On Nature In Ohio

Mrs. Klopfenstein Presents Program

Ashville Garden club met Thursday evening in Ashville English Lutheran church for a regular April meeting. A short business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Wright Noecker.

Mrs. Glenn Klopfenstein, program chairman, introduced Arthur Kiefer of Columbus who showed slides and addressed the group on "Pages from an Ohio Natural Diary".

Mr. Kiefer, a noted naturalist and a teacher at North High School, Columbus, for many years, showed slides of Ohio's flowers, trees and birds and included the four seasons of Ohio's natural beauty in his talk.

Mrs. Klopfenstein also presented Charles Hines, who played a trumpet solo, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Harold Hines.

Mrs. C. E. Mahaffey read a paper on "Early Ohio Gardens". Mrs. Mahaffey stated that no Ohio garden from colonial times has been kept intact in its original plantings, but that several have been restored to their original beauty and form. Adena, near Chillicothe, one of the showplaces in Ohio, has gardens restored to their original design and color.

Members brought arrangements of daffodils and enjoyed a plant exchange following program.

Plans were made to hold a flower show at a May meeting. The schedule is to include: arrangement for a dinner table or tea table; arrangement for a buffet; hall or occasional table; coffee table arrangement; arrangement in monochromatic colors; flowering shrubs, arrangement in a favorite container; all green arrangement, and an arrangement using colored foliage for accent.

Mrs. Wilson Is Hostess To Meet Of Church Women

Regular meeting of the Woman's Society of World Service of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church was held in the home of Mrs. Dwight Wilson of E. Mill St.

Mrs. Harry Hosler conducted devotionals and a business session. Programs for the coming year were given to each member and Mrs. Talmer Wise distributed financial statements for the past year.

Announcement was made of a convention of the society to be held April 28 and 29 in Lancaster. The group voted to contribute toward expenses of the delegates. Plans were made to send a quantity of candles to soldiers in Korea as the first of a series of projects for this quarter of the missionary year.

Members were reminded that donations of colored eggs will be called for by Mrs. Cary Shasteen for an Easter Party to be held April 17 for the children's department of the church.

Mrs. Hosler presented gifts to Mrs. Manley Carothers and Mrs. Edward Bost who had perfect attendance at meetings of the society during the past year.

Members subscribed to a mission paper, "World Evangel" and voted to present a paid subscription to the Youth Fellowship of the church.

Following adjournment of the business session, the president read portions of a mission study book as

District Drill Contest Is Won By Grange Youth Team

A Youth Drill Team of Pickaway County Granges won first place in a district drill contest held in Beaver Creek School, Greene County. The team competed against teams from Preble, Champaign and Miami Counties in the southwest district. The drill figures were performed in a such a manner as to exemplify the lessons of Faith in the springtime and sowing the seed.

This original drill was composed and directed by David Dowler, Pickaway County Grange Youth Chairman.

The team is composed of members from six Granges. Carolyn Forshey from Scioto Valley Grange is the pianist. Other members from the same Grange are John Miller, Don Kreiger, Noel Rader, and William Speakman. Byron Carter, Jane Caldwell, Miriam Hudson and Dale Bidwell represent Scioto Grange; Sue Porter, Margaret Anderson and Miriam Bach are from Star Grange; Joyce Baldoser and Dotty List from Logan Elm Grange; Don DeLong and Larry Beougher from Salt Creek Valley Grange, and Sarah Jane Hedges from Nebraska Grange.

By winning in the district, the Pickaway County Team is entitled to go to the state finals which will be held at 2:30 p. m. May 15, in Mt. Vernon High School. In the finals they will be competing against the winners from three other districts. Winner of this contest has the honor of presenting its drill at an Ohio State Grange Convention in October.

BETRAYAL AND CRUCIFIXION

JESUS BETRAYED BY JUDAS, GOES TO HIS DEATH ON THE CROSS

Scripture—John 18-19; 21:15.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THIS NEXT WEEK, from April 12 to April 18—Easter Sunday—is National Sunday School Week. The importance of Sunday schools in developing the character of youth and instilling a respect for high ethical standards cannot be gainsaid. I quote:

"The education and inspiration so gained in Sunday schools will make more useful citizens of our boys and girls in their adult lives. Thus is built a better United States and a better world."

The main objective of National Sunday School Week "is to bring home to young people and their parents the benefits to be gained by young people through regular attendance at Sunday school."

We whose children have attended Sunday school from their pre-kindergarten days to graduation, know the benefits that have come to them from such attendance, so we can heartily endorse this week which has been set aside by the Laymen's National Council to emphasize the importance of regular church school attendance.

Our lesson today is the heart-breaking one of Christ's arrest and crucifixion. Crossing the brook, Cedron, Jesus and His disciples entered the garden. Judas knew this place, "for Jesus oftentimes resorted thither with His disciples." There Judas brought a band of soldiers and temple officials with torches and weapons.

Jesus knew well enough why they were come and asked, "Whom seek ye?" The answer was: "Jesus of Nazareth." Jesus said "I am He."

An odd thing happened then. "They went backward and fell to the ground." Whether this was a miracle because of Christ's power or not we are not told.

Again Jesus asked them whom they sought and He told them He was the Man. Peter was the only one of the disciples who resisted those arresting His Master. Drawing his sword he cut off the right ear of the high priest's servant, Malchus, but Jesus ordered him to put his sword into its sheath, and the soldiers took Jesus and bound Him.

He was first led to Annas, father-in-law of Caiaphas, the high priest. Peter followed his Master as did another disciple, the latter known to the high priest, and he brought Peter in. The girl who kept the door asked Peter if he was not one of Jesus' disciples, and Peter denied it—his first denial.

The high priest asked Jesus of His disciples, and of His doctrine. "Jesus answered him, I spake openly to the world; I ever taught in the synagogue, and in the temple, whither the Jews always resort; and in secret have I said nothing."

"Why askedst thou Me? ask him which heard Me, what I have said unto them; behold, they know what I said."

One of the officers who stood by struck Jesus, saying, "Answerest Thou the high priest so?" Jesus said, "If I have spoken evil bear witness of the evil; but if well, why smitest thou Me?"

Then Jesus was taken bound to Caiaphas. Peter warmed himself at a fire which some had built, and one of the high priest's servants asked him: "Did I not see thee in the garden with Him?" Peter denied it flatly, "and immediately the cock crew."

Brought before Pontius Pilate, the Roman asked Jesus' accusers, "What accusation bring ye against this Man?" They answered, "If He were not a malefactor, we would not have delivered Him up unto thee."

Pilate suggested that they take Him then and judge Him according to their law, but they said that it was not lawful for them to put a man to death.

Pilate then asked Jesus "Art Thou the King of the Jews?" Jesus answered that His kingdom was not of this world. If it had been His disciples would have fought for Him and He would not have been delivered to the Jews.

"Art Thou a king then?" asked Pilate, and Jesus answered that for this cause came He into the world, that He should bear witness unto the truth. Pilate asked Him what was the truth? then went out and told Christ's enemies that he found no fault in Him.

As they persisted that He must die, Pilate told the people that as they had a custom that a man should be released from custody at the Passover, whom would they prefer to have released, Jesus or Barabbas, a robber. Then all cried, "Not this Man, but Barabbas!"

Then Christ was scourged, the soldiers platted a crown of thorns and put it on His head in mockery, crying, "Hail, King of the Jews," and the priests and officers cried out, "Crucify Him, crucify Him," and although Pilate sought to release Him, it was in vain, and finally He was led away, made to carry His cross to the place called Golgotha, and nailed to the cross, with two criminals, one on each side of Him.

After He was dead, Joseph of Arimathea, a Pharisee who was secretly His disciple, begged Pilate for permission to bury Him, and Nicodemus, who had sought Him at night, brought spices to bury with Him. Then they took Him to a new sepulchre and put Him in the tomb.

We have no space for other details told by John in his epistle, but they may be told in class and commented on, especially the story of Jesus' giving His mother into John's care.

So, He who was without sin died for us—for all the world of sinners.

Make your own "proving ground" test

... and we know this is what you'll find

Chevrolet is out ahead in powerful performance

Chevrolet is out ahead in economy

There's new power, new performance and new economy in both 1954 Chevrolet engines—the "Blue-Flame 125" in Powerglide models and the "Blue-Flame 115" in gearshift models. And they bring you the highest compression ratio of any leading low-priced car. That's why they can deliver a big gain in power, acceleration and all-around performance, along with important gasoline savings!

Your test car's ready now... We'll be glad to have you compare the smooth, quiet performance of this new Chevrolet with any other car in its field. Come in and put it through any kind of "proving ground" test you care to, and judge its performance for yourself. Your test car's ready now and we hope you are, too.

Greenfield Nips CHS In Extra Inning Contest

Greenfield High School, last year's defending league champions, had to go an extra inning to beat Dick Boyd's Tigers 5 to 4. The game Thursday was played at Ted Lewis Park and was only the second outing for Circleville.

Don Skinner, senior Tiger pitcher, struck out eight and contributed a triple to the losing cause. Don Miller, who beat CHS twice last season, fanned nine Tigers.

Errors showed up on both sides. Greenfield had only two earned runs while Circleville could claim only one.

The Tigers drew first blood in their half of the opening inning. Bob Wellington led off with a walk. Ron Bennington followed with a double. Wellington scored on an infield out. Bill Barthelmas walked and Bennington and Barthelmas scored on an error.

Greenfield tied up the game in the top of the second with three runs, two of which were the result of miscues in the field. They went ahead in their half of the third.

Circleville knotted the score in the bottom of the same inning. Strawser reached first on a fielder's choice. He later scored on an error.

The Tigers will play host to Wilmington on Monday, April 12 for a league game. Lancaster will come here Thursday, April 15.

Troy Ruttman Is Launching Comeback In Auto Racing

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—At an age when many young men are still pondering what career to follow, Troy Ruttman is launching a comeback.

Unusual? Not for this 24-year-old Californian who decided in his teens to make auto racing his life's work.

Troy reached the pinnacle of racing fame at 22 by winning the 1952 Indianapolis 500-mile race. He was racing's "boy wonder," destined to become one of the sport's all-time greats when he crashed at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Aug. 17, 1952.

His severely injured right arm was still suspended in a traction device last Memorial Day. Instead of defending his Indianapolis championship, Troy's 1953 mission at the speedway was to still whispered reports that he would never drive a race car again.

He will silence the rumor Sunday when he steps into the Emmet Malloy sprint car at Dayton Speedway for the AAA Midwest circuit inaugural event.

Ruttman extended a firm right hand of greeting today, and without being asked, said:

"The arm feels stronger all the time. I'm ready to give racing a try again."

Can the driver who once was the scourge of midwest high-banked tracks win Sunday's race?

"Let's not kid anyone," Troy replied. "I haven't driven a race car for 19 months. I tried a midget a couple of times out west, and won a stock car race, but this will be my first time back in the big cars. I think my car is one of the best, but I won't know for sure until I run a few practice laps and check the stop watch."

"And the competition is different. I've raced only a few times against Pat O'Connor and Bob Sweikert. Maybe they or some of these new fellows like Wally Campbell can chase me right off the track. But if the car is running like I think it will, I hope to give them a race for it."

And what does the future hold for the driver from Lynwood, Calif.?

"I'll run wherever the biggest races and the best drivers are," he said with a broad grin. "That's where the most money is. Racing is my business, and any businessman wants to make money."

Sport Briefs

Cleveland's Barons, coming from behind after their highest scorers were checked, beat the Hershey Bears 5-3 last night and gained a 2-1 lead in the American Hockey League's final playoff for the Calder Cup.

The Aga Khan's decision to sell off most of his racehorse string caused a major stir in English racing circles today. He has about 250 thoroughbreds in training in Ireland alone.

The Marietta College Pioneers, who lead the nation's small college basketball teams with their 21-1 season record, will go to Hempstead, N. Y. next December to play in the Hofstra College tournament. Marietta is the only Midwestern school invited to the eight-team event.

A six-man coaching staff for the college all-star football squad was completed today with the naming of Northwestern's Bob Voigts and Purdue's Stu Holcomb as assistants to Head Coach Jim Tatum of Maryland. Others previously named were Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma, Chuck Taylor of Stanford and Forest Evashevski of Iowa.

Syracuse Knots Pro Cage Playoff

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—The injury-ridden Syracuse Nationals, basking in the glow of another upset victory over the Minneapolis Lakers in their championship National Basketball Assn. series, had another familiar name on the injury roster today.

Bullet Bill Gabor was on crutches and probably won't play when his teammates tackle the Lakers again here tomorrow afternoon in a nationally televised game.

Gabor was thrown to the floor last night in a scramble for the ball as the Nats whipped the Lakers 80-69 after effectively tying up series now stands at 2-2.

Early Wynn To Start For Clevelanders

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Al Lopez, who says this year's Cleveland Indians are the "best club I have ever managed," named Early Wynn today to pitch the season's opener at Chicago.

He refused, however, to predict the American League pennant winner because "I haven't seen the clubs in Florida." The Tribe, which finished second during Lopez' other three years as manager, trains in Arizona.

Wynn was picked for the first game Tuesday because Lopez is "pretty sure" the White Sox will send out southpaw Billy Pierce. If Virgil Trucks is used instead, Lopez will pitch Bob Lemon, who has better luck batting against right-handed choppers. Wynn had a 17-22 record last year while Lemon was 21-15.

Still unsolved as the Indians near the end of a barnstorming trip against the New York Giants are:

1. Who will be the regular first baseman, and
2. What about Hal Newhouse?

Yesterday's game was rained out but during the last three games, Lopez plans to use three men at first—Billy Glynn, Rocky Nelson and Luke Easter.

Lopez says Nelson is the "No. 1" choice right now "but anything can happen before the season starts." Although Lopez contends Nelson has a "good eye," he admits Nelson "hasn't been a house afire."

Newhouse, released by the Detroit Tigers last season, looked good during a comeback attempt with the Indians. He is in Detroit today but plans contract talks with General Manager Hank Greenberg.

DALE CHIEF, pictured with owner-driver M. F. Thornton, is one of the many horses to appear at the Jaycee Harness Matinee. The affair, whose purpose is to raise money for a new grandstand at the County Fair Grounds, is to be held April 25. Dale Chief is a pacer. Tickets can be purchased from Jaycees or at various local business establishments.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves come home today to find out whether the sophomore ring real live major league ball players.

The Milwaukee atmosphere is bound to be slightly changed this season even though the good people of Wisconsin beat down the box office doors during the winter to buy advance tickets.

Last year the mere idea of seeing hits ball clubs as well as ball players, even members of a team that wallowed in seventh place the previous season, drove Milwaukee residents into ecstasy.

The enthusiasm was contagious. The Braves put up a real pennant scrap and finished second. But this time around the fans probably will be expecting a little bit more.

The Braves return to Milwaukee for a three-game series with their former city rivals, the Boston Red Sox. The Sox had whipped them four times this spring but some of the Milwaukee excitement seeped south to Louisville, Ky., yesterday and Charley Grimm's men whipped the Bostonians 5-3.

Two encouraging factors in the victory were Eddie Mathews' eighth spring home run and Bob Buhl's nine-inning mound stint. Buhl, a real find in his first big league season, also will be fighting the elusive jinx that is supposed to dog players in their second year in the majors.

ABC Leadership Changes Hands

SEATTLE (AP)—Chicago and Buffalo bowlers provided the prime attraction in the 20th day of the American Bowling Congress yesterday, knocking off first position in doubles standings and second position in the open team division.

The first major change came when Ned Day and Buddy Bomar of Chicago combined a hot bowling exhibition to pile up a 1,326 total good for the doubles lead.

Then, the Simon Pure Beer and Ale team of Buffalo waltzed into second place in the open team competition with a 3,133 total.

Cincinnati Seeks Exclusive Tourney

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Inter League Sports Council of Greater Cincinnati wants Cincinnati's part of the southwestern district Class A Ohio high school basketball tournament to be made an all Hamilton County affair.

The council, consisting of 10 high school athletic department heads in Greater Cincinnati, voted 7-3 last night to ask that Hamilton Public, Hamilton Catholic and Fairfield, which now play in the Cincinnati tournament, be moved to the Dayton District.

Sokolsky's These Days

What is producing a hand-sitting Republican Party in New York is that the party workers see their enemies continued in office; that they see Republicans who worked with Roosevelt and Truman continued in excellent jobs; that honors go to men who have never been known to be Republicans, even if they secretly belonged to the faith; that the party has lost its general conservatism and therefore makes fools out of those who for 20 years stood by it, preaching a doctrine which, while adopted by the 1952 Convention, has been officially forgotten.

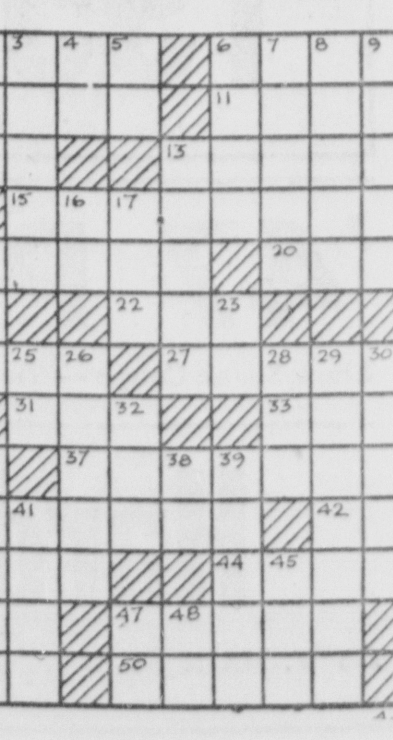

So, it is to be expected that in 1954, the political mechanics will be on strike—not openly, of course. Politicians have a way of sitting on their hands and dragging their feet. The only act that might mobilize the Republicans in New York would be for the Democrats to nominate Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., for Governor.

In New Jersey, the same atmosphere prevails. The nomination of Clifford P. Case for United States Senator was directed from Washington. The old-line Republicans do not want Mr. Case, but they were too split among themselves to do anything about it. They cannot, in conscience, vote against Case, but many will not vote for him, which is the same thing.

The atmospheres in these states need to be reported because the Republican margin in Congress is so narrow that failure to hold what

Home Runs, Double Plays Help Redlegs

COLUMBUS (AP)—The home run is a potent offensive weapon and the double play is a powerful defensive weapon and the Cincinnati Redlegs now have parlayed them into a four-game spring training winning streak.

The Reds used both home runs and double plays to crush the Washington Senators three times in a row. Yesterday in Portsmouth, the Detroit Tigers silenced the home run bats but three double plays helped pitchers Bud Podbielan and Harry Perkowski to hurl a 4-1 victory over the Bengels.

The Redlegs have executed 19 double plays in their last six games and they have blasted 37 home runs in 31 spring training tilts. Jim Greengrass leads the home run hitters with eight.

Today the Reds and the Tigers were to play the second of their four-game Ohio series here and Manager Birdie Tebbetts said he'd use lefties Fred Baczewski and Joe Nuxhall on the mound for Cincinnati. Detroit was expected to start with Ted Gray on the mound.

Big John Kissell jumped back to the Cleveland Browns from the Canadian Football League today and will be out for defensive left tackle when the Ohio pros start practice in July.

Leaders Bunched In Masters Test

AUGUSTA (AP)—With 23 golfers clustered within four strokes of each other, the 18th Masters Golf Tournament still was a wide-open scramble going into today's second round.

Billy Joe Patton, an amateur, and Dutch Harrison, who hits the money trail whenever his aching back will let him, were tied for the lead with 2-under-par 70s.

Only one stroke back were Lloyd

Mangrum and Jack Burke Jr. Defending Champion Ben Hogan and top money winner Dave Douglas were another shot to the rear with par 72s.

ROUNDUP

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office, located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here, headed by County Agent Larry Best, is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

Conservation plantings on unproductive, unsightly areas can change them into pleasing and productive farm assets, according to R. K. Davis, extension wildlife conservationist.

Most farms have fence rows, fence corners, ditchbanks, gullies, streambanks or other unfarmable areas which aren't productive. Farmers practicing good land use include these areas in their plans.

Davis suggests planting pine on some of the areas. Pine will produce a crop of Christmas trees and provide shelter for wildlife. Multiflora rose will provide cover and food for wildlife too. It also protects ditchbanks, streambanks and ponds from tramping by livestock.

April is conservation month and a good time to make plantings, Davis reminds farmers.

Jack D. DeMent succeeds Dr. F. J. Salter as director of the Ohio State University soils inventory laboratory, Wilbur B. Wood, director of the Ohio agricultural extension service announced recently.

Salter, who retired last year, initiated the present system of soil inventory and testing. Since 1925, he served a dual role as teacher of agronomy and supervisor of the soil testing laboratory at Ohio State. During that time, he worked continually to improve soil test services to Ohio farmers.

DeMent was born in Shreveport, Louisiana in 1924. He received his B. Sc. degree in 1948 and M. Sc. degree in 1949 from Louisiana State University. For the next three years, he did agronomy research at Louisiana State Experiment Station.

In 1952, he enrolled at Ohio State University for graduate study. He plans to complete his Ph. D. in agronomy from Ohio State in August, 1954.

Mr. and Mrs. DeMent live on Putnam road in Columbus.

Veal calves can help maintain dairy farmers' profits during the decline in milk prices, C. L. Blackman, Ohio State University dairy specialist, believes.

Blackman said baby calves weighing 100 pounds or less sell for no more than 10 cents a pound on most markets. By feeding enough milk to get calves into the veal class, farmers receive veal price for both the birth weight of the calf and the pounds of gain added.

Current veal prices in Columbus range from about 18 to 25 cents a pound. Buyers prefer veals weighing from 175 to 215 pounds.

It takes about 10 pounds of milk to make 1 pound of gain on veal calves. Calves gain from 1 to 1½ pounds daily the first 2 months they nurse a cow. Farmers can figure the amount of milk they will have to feed to get the most money from their milk and calves.

Potatoes, broiler and fryer chickens, and dairy products are given top prominence in the U. S. Department of Agriculture plentiful foods list for April. Supplies of potatoes represent the big harvest of last fall, supplemented by early potatoes from the South and Southwest.

Indiana is the only Midwestern state with extensive production of broiler and fryer chickens, but Georgia, Arkansas, and other regions in the South and East are turning out these tender, young chickens each week at a greater rate than a year ago.

Cows always give more milk in the spring months, and dairy prices to consumers are expected to be lower in April, because 1941-44, he was supervisor of dairy trade practices with the Ohio department of agriculture. In 1944, Wood was appointed county agricultural agent in Madison County. He left Madison County in 1947 to become junior dean of Ohio State University College of Agriculture.

Portsmouth Mill Plans Recall

COLUMBUS (AP) — Officials at Portsmouth division, Detroit Steel Co., say 350 employees will be recalled next week.

At the same time the Jackson Iron and Steel Co. said it would shut down Monday because of lack of business and lay off about 120 men. The Jackson plant is the second in that county to close in a month. The Globe Furnace shut down in March.

Husband-Slayer Judged Insane

PORTSMOUTH (AP) — Mrs. Hattie Boggs, 31-year-old mother accused of slaying her husband, James, has been judged legally insane at Lima State Hospital.

She will be brought back to common pleas court here for disposition of her case. The killing took place in the Boggs' rural home March 5.

Mars Study Set

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Harvard University plans to build a transmitter that will bounce radar waves off Mars. It will enable scientists to figure the distance to the planet "almost to a mile," Harvard astronomer Dr. Bart J. Bok said here yesterday.
